

Travel 20

We enjoyed a 10-day family camping experience in Tasmania over the Christmas break and made the most of the mountains and many bushwalking options in our quest to get fit for Kokoda.

I had booked four nights at Corinna on the west coast – a sleepy little place accessible from Strahan only by ferry.

I discovered Corinna by chance last year while putting together the itinerary for our escorted Tassie Tour. It is regarded as the most isolated town in Tasmania and is surrounded by a rainforest – very peaceful.

Our group last May had the whole place to ourselves and that is what I had in mind when I booked our Christmas holiday.

You can imagine my dismay and surprise when we got off the ferry to be greeted by a crowd – boats, bikes, trailers, cars, kids and more people than I cared to see at that moment.

It seems the Getaway team had discovered Corinna too and it is now on every Tasmanian's "must do" list.

Fortunately most people only stayed one night and few of them did the more strenuous bush walks, so there were plenty of Zen moments and plenty of exercise.

Premium Sport Tours has updated its itinerary for the 2010 FIFA World Cup.

Packages start from $11,990 and include international airfare, domestic flights between Johannesburg, Durban and Cape Town in South Africa, transfers, accommodation and tickets for the three Australian matches.

They have also thrown in a visit to Kruger National Park, including game drives.

Give us a call if you are interested.

Training for those joining us on the Kokoda escorted tour continues and we will be heading for Blue Water Hole in Kosciuszko National Park this weekend.

We look forward to some serious mountain climbing and for those interested in extending their time; there will be an opportunity to do some caving on Monday.

It is not too late to join our group – there are two spots left.

Hot off the press – Malaysia Airlines has released a 'too cheap to ignore' airfare of only $256 plus taxes and surcharges between Australia and Kuala Lumpur.

On sale until March 8, and you have until November to enjoy your cheap holiday.

See Sandra or Louise if you would like to grab this hot little bargain.
